urday in August 1915.

The Crittenden Record-Press is authorized to announce JUDGE C. S. NUNN of Marion, Ky., as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals, from the First Appellate District of Kentucky.

Elsewhere in these columns Col. George N. McGrew, of the Bayou, a member of the state board of agriculture, and vice president of Farmers' Institute of the state, announces for the legislature, to represent Livingston and Crittenden counties.

He is an able man and will make a good legislator.

The New York World of March 5th truly says:

On the fiftieth anniversary of Lincoln's second inaugural, Woodrow Wilson completes half his Presidential term.

These two years of the Wilson Administration must inevitably be the most momentous period that this country has known since the Civil War.

It is a fact of enormous importance that this crisis finds in the White House a President who is completely master of himself.
Being master of himself, he is master of his party and of his Administration.

There is no kitchen cabinet.
There are no back-stairs advisers.
There are no secret influences that pull and sway the policies of the Executive. No underground wires run from the White House into Wall Street or into the headquarters of any political committee. Men may agree with Mr.
Wilson or disagree with him; they may like him or they may dislike him; but everybody knows that he and he alone is President.
Everybody knows that during the remaining two years of his term he and he alone will be President.

A very unusual man, meet to cope with a very unusual situation in the affairs of mankind—a President who in all his official relations displays neither vanity nor resentment, nor anger, nor personal ambition. If he has friends, their friendship counts for nothing in the affairs of state.
If he has enemies, their enmity weighs nothing in the balance of government. He seeks neither to reward the one nor to punish the other.

So evenly does he hold the scales that the members of the Diplomatic Corps, with all their highly developed facilities for obtaining information, have never been able to learn where the President's personal sympathies lie in the great conflict that is now devastating Europe. What ever his individual opinions may be, he has smothered them in the responsibilities of his office.

At this period in their first term most Presidents have been calculating their chances of re-nomination and re-election. Nobody knows whether Mr. Wilson intends to be a candidate for re-election or not. Not a member of the Cabinet, not a member of congress, can say of his own knowledge that the President desires a re-election or that he would not refuse a renomination.
What all of them know is that the President would not stoop from principle to win either a re-nomination or a re-election.

That is where his great strength lies. That is where his great usefulness is, in this crisis. It is easy to rattle the sabre. It is easy to make the welkin ring. It is easy to be spectacular and sensational and theatrical. It is easy to be a demagogue. It is easy to juggle with the fate of a Nation when no man can foresee what the next day will bring forth.
But it is not easy to be calm and restrained and judicial. It is not easy to face every responsibility without prejudice and without passion. It is not easy to hew straight to the line of first principles, regardless of applause or censure or praise or denunciation. It is not easy to be sane when the world has given itself over to madness.

The enormous good fortune of the people of the United States in the storm and stress of these coming years is that their Chief Magistrate is sane—the sanest mind today that is intrusted with the responsibilities of government anywhere in civilization.

ing fence and plowing.
Rev. J. A. Hunt is much improved in health at the present writing.
We are glad to report that Mrs.
Swansey has almost recovered from her recent illness.
Ewing James was through here trying to make up a spring school. Success to you Mr. James.
Mrs. Lizzie Paris and two little daughters visited Mrs. Nannie Allen Saturday.
We were sorry to hear that our old friend John Montgomery, of Tiline, had the misfortune to lose a fine span of mules last week.
The ladies of this community are busy quilting, setting hens and getting eggs for the market.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen visited Bunton Paris Saturday night.
Anyone wishing to give their children the advantage of a first-class
